

Proclamation of Recognition

WHEREAS, Women in Code Enforcement and Development of Virginia, also known as WICED of VA; promote the value, recognition, and professional development of women in code enforcement and development within the Commonwealth of Virginia through mentoring, education, networking, and collaboration.

WHEREAS, safeguarding the health, safety, and welfare of all Virginians is the greatest priority of our state, its leaders, our building safety professionals, and this organization.

WHEREAS our efforts to establish and maintain relations with young professional women entering the building safety industry is of utmost importance; giving us confidence that uplifting and raising the profile of remarkable women will be the blueprint for the future; and

WHEREAS Women in Code Enforcement and Development of Virginia recognizes Norfolk State University in establishing the first College Chapter of WICED, and

WHEREAS, in observance of this proclamation, we urge all professional women of Norfolk State University, Department of Technology to continue acknowledging and celebrating the vital role women play in every facet of the building and safety profession.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Maryia Lackansingh, President of Women in Code Enforcement of Virginia, do hereby formally recognize Norfolk State University as an Official College Chapter of Women in Code Enforcement and Development on this 9th day of March 2023.

Maryia Lackansingh

President,
Women in Code Enforcement and Development of VA

Vernell Woods

Adjunct Professor,
Norfolk State University
Department of Technology

